A BABY FOR CHRISTMAS!

On December 25, Kanye West and Kim Kardashian may be celebrating the birth of baby Yeezus. The "Jesus Walks" rapper's son is due on Christmas, a source tells Us. Kardashian, 34, who suffers from placenta accreta, in which the placenta grows too deeply in the uterus, "will likely have a C-section," continues the insider. Though the procedure is yet to be scheduled, the source says Selfish's author has reserved the three-room, two-bathroom L.A. maternity suite where she delivered daughter North, 2, for a few dates around the holiday.

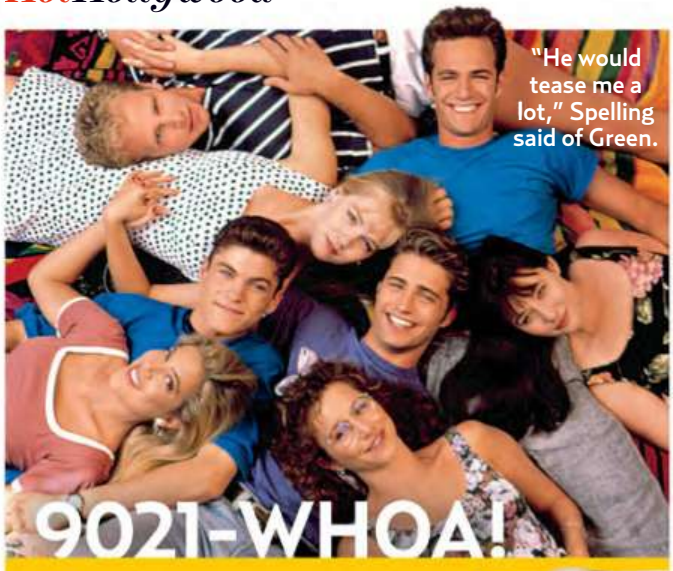

NAME GAME Now, the couple must decide what to christen their son. South makes Kardashian "want to roll my eyes," she said September 30. "I do like the name Easton. I don't think my husband likes [it]." West, 38, proposed a "unique" family-inspired moniker, adds another insider, "but Kim wasn't crazy about it." The Wests aren't rushing to a conclusion, says the first source: "Kim won't solidify the name until the month she gives birth."

Kardashian (with West in NYC Sept. 11) posted a 6 A.M. peek at her mornings with North (inset) Sept. 28.

"He would tease me a lot," Spelling said of Green.

9021-WHOA!

Spelling

Donna Martin was a one-man girl — but Tori Spelling was not. In an October 3 episode of Lifetime's Celebrity Lie Detector, the Beverly Hills, 90210 alum, 42, revealed she slept with two castmates, including Brian Austin Green, 42. While she refused to name the other high school hookup, she hinted at Luke Perry, 49, or Jason Priestley, 46, adding, "Half my friends don't even know!"

REALLY?!

Chris Brown, inspirational speaker? After Australian officials threatened to refuse his visa due to his 2009 conviction for assaulting Rihanna, the singer, 26, insisted he's changed. "I would be . . . grateful to come to Australia to raise awareness about domestic violence," he tweeted September 29. The father of Royalty, 16 months, added that kids "don't listen to parents nor do they listen to PSA's. The power that we have as entertainers can change lives."

Brown (in May) is slated to perform in Australia in December.

BREAKING

An epidemic! Dancing With the Stars at

KIM ZOLCIAK-BIERMANN
A September 23 mini-stroke left the mom, 37, unable to travel from Atlanta to L.A. for the ABC show five days later. So she was eliminated. Now, she's petitioning to return: "I was cleared to dance. . . . I just couldn't fly."

DOROTHY HAMILL
Dancing got on the figure skater's nerves. On the advice of her spine surgeon, the Olympian, 59, tearily withdrew during week 2 of 2013's season 16 due to a cyst she said was "radiating down my leg and foot."

JEWEL
The singer, 41, didn't have a shot at the mirrorball trophy. When she fractured both tibias before the premiere of 2009's season 8, she was "devastated." Her then-husband, Ty Murray, made it to the semifinals!

A LEG

hletes endure injuries

MISTY MAY-TREANOR
The beach volleyball champ, 38, was sidelined after tearing her Achilles tendon in week 3 of 2008's season 7. "I was doing the Lindy Hop," she said. "I heard a pop." Four years later, she won gold at the Olympics.

BILL NYE
Against doctor's orders, the Science Guy, 59, did a jazzy routine to Daft Punk's "Get Lucky" with a torn ligament. He was ousted in week 3 of 2013's season 17. "Thank you," he said, "for keeping me in this long."

JULIANNE HOUGH
Season 7 was in full swing when the then-pro, 27, missed two tapings for an emergency appendectomy. Host Tom Bergeron joked, "Only Julianne could say, 'I'm having my appendix out, but I'll be back.'"

25 Things You Don't Know About Me

The CSI: Cyber star, 28, fills Us in

1. I used to be a huge WWE fan.
2. I like chocolate-chip cookies without the chips.
3. One of the best fan gifts I've received was a portrait someone painted of me.

4. My favorite artist as a kid was Michael Jackson.

5. I don't like to watch the movie The Wiz because I was scared of it when I was younger.
6. My favorite food is seafood Alfredo.
7. I love tech gadgets.
8. And apple pie — without the fruit.
9. As a kid, I wore a towel as a cape in a tribute to James Brown.
10. I could also do the moonwalk perfectly.

11. The best candy is Sour Patch Kids.

12. My favorite actor is Don Cheadle.
13. My favorite drink is Hawaiian Punch.
14. When I first met Michael Jordan, I was speechless.
15. I failed the learner's permit test twice.
16. I only eat the white parts of eggs.
17. I like to wear white tees.

18. My first car was a Nissan 350Z.

19. My aunt used to have a secret code name for me to prevent any kidnappings.
20. I hate when people mispronounce my name.
21. I'm a neat fanatic.
22. If I could live outside of the U.S., it would be in Cape Town, South Africa.
23. I brush my teeth in the shower.
24. I'm afraid of heights.
25. On sets, they used to call me the One Take Kid, because I always did my takes once.

WHAT'S IN MY BAG?

Country strong! Jana Kramer, 31, empties out her purse for Us

Jana Kramer and her satchel aren't in it for the long haul. "I wore my last one for nine years," says the singer, whose album Thirty One is out October 9. "It was so torn up that I just ran out and bought this tote from Target to have until I find the perfect bag for me!" The One Tree Hill alum — who's expecting a baby in 2016 with her husband, NFL pro Mike Caussin, 28 — shows Us what's bumping around in her carryall.

SWEET SOUVENIR

"When Sophia Bush and I were in Australia, some One Tree Hill fans gave us sterling silver boomerangs for our key chains. I still have mine."

LET'S MAKE UP

"I never leave home without Lancôme Absolue moisturizer, and ChapStick — the original black-label kind. My go-to lipstick is Nars' Michiyo."

BY THE BOOK

"Right now I'm reading Love the One You're With by Emily Giffin for the second time. It's amazing! I always have one of her books."

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

"Foam earplugs are usually in my bag because it's so loud on my tour bus. When I'm on an airplane, I just put them in and I'm able to sleep."

FORCE OF NATURE

"The weirdest thing I have on me is a bottle of bug spray. I do a lot of outdoor shows — and you never know when you're gonna get stuck in the woods!"

WHAT THE STARS SAID THIS WEEK

"Every Thursday night, I give her money to go to the casino."

On how she keeps her mother from watching her sex scenes on How to Get Away With Murder,

VIOLA DAVIS

"You relax into it in a certain way."

On his marriage to Jennifer Aniston,

JUSTIN THEROUX

"I'm for rent. . . . If you can afford the honorarium, I'll be there for you."

Joking about becoming ordained to officiate Allison Williams' wedding,

TOM HANKS

"I've never been more thankful and grateful to my own mother."

On life as a mom,

JESSICA BIEL

"Nancy looked like she was 13 and meeting Justin Bieber. . . . I was like, 'You could have acted a little bit cooler.'"

On his wife meeting Barack Obama,

JIMMY FALLON

"He called me 'baby.' 'Hey, baby.' I'm like, 'Hey, it's Mom! What's up?'"

On her 17-year-old son, Caleb, accidentally texting her instead of his girlfriend,

JULIANNE MOORE

"There's nobody who's more misunderstood."

On friend Ben Affleck,

MATT DAMON

"The whole point is for everybody to pick it up and go, 'I'd like to thank my son and my dad' — and you can always tell when someone has. . . . They'll come out looking slightly pink-cheeked."

On why she keeps her Oscar in the bathroom,

KATE WINSLET

"A lot of times I feel like Will Ferrell in the movie Elf. You know, this big guy that wants to [join in] and his hands are a little bit too big."

On his place in the fashion industry,

Rapper Nicki Minaj, 32, will executive-produce a new ABC Family sitcom. The series will be based on her family's emigration from Trinidad in the early '90s.

➜ Second Chance

Blake Lively, 28, will shutter Preserve .com October 9 and reinvent the brand. She said the shop, which launched in July 2014, was "not making a difference in people's lives, whether superficially or in a meaningful way."

➜ Claws Out

Archie Panjabi refuted her Good Wife costar Julianna Margulies' claim that they had filmed their final scene separately because Panjabi, 43, was busy working on Netflix's The Fall last year, not because of a rumored feud. "I was in New York ready to film the scene!" the British actress tweeted October 5.

➜ Tweet No More

Lena Dunham, 29, has turned over her Twitter account to a ghostwriter, she told the "Re/code Decode" podcast. "It really, truly wasn't a safe space for me," she said of suffering verbal abuse on the site.

Franco (left)

➜ Mazel Tov!

James Franco was bar mitzvahed October 3 as part of an agreement with pal Seth Rogen, 33. "Finally!" the half-Jewish actor, 37, posted on Instagram. He will celebrate October 17 at Rogen's Hilarity for Charity fundraiser, which benefits the fight against Alzheimer's disease.

➜ Seeking Justice

Paul Walker's daughter, Meadow, 16, filed a wrongful death lawsuit against Porsche, claiming the sports car her late father was killed in November 30, 2013, had multiple design flaws.

➜ Getting Jiggy (Again)

Will Smith, 47, is set to tour with his "Fresh Prince" collaborator DJ Jazzy Jeff, 50, next summer.

Caleb (with sister Hayley) and his clan began vlogging about life in 2010.

YouTube Tragedy

➜ Caleb LeBlanc of the hit YouTube reality series Bratayley died October 1 of natural causes, his mother, Katie, announced via Instagram October 2. He was 13. In an October 5 statement, the Anne Arundel County Police Department explained that officers arrived at the family's Arnold, Maryland, home to find Caleb "suffering from an unknown medical emergency." He was pronounced dead at a local hospital. Results of an autopsy are pending, but police suspect no foul play. "This has come as a shock to all of us," Katie posted of her husband, Billy, and girls Annie, 10, and Hayley, 7. "Words cannot describe how much we will miss him."

Dancing for Joy!

Allison Holker's intuition is en pointe. "I suspected that I was pregnant at three weeks," says ABC's Dancing With the Stars pro, who's expecting her first child with So You Think You Can Dance's Stephen "Twitch" Boss, 33, in February. "There were three days in a row where I napped all day long!" The 27-year-old mom of daughter Weslie, 7 (from a previous relationship), takes a turn with Us.

Q: How did Weslie react to the news?

She's usually very calm and collected, but she couldn't contain herself. She started jumping up and down like a kid on a candy high!

Q: Will this affect your DWTS role?

If you're athletic already, it's actually bad physically and mentally to stop during pregnancy. My doctor told me that as long as I take naps between rehearsals and drink a lot of water, it's absolutely OK to keep dancing.

Q: What are you most excited about?

I can't wait to see Stephen handle a child. He's so ready for it! He has giant hands, like, bigger than my face. I'm so excited to see a baby in his arms.

"I'm in a good place," Shelton, who split from wife Miranda Lambert in July, told CMT Sept. 26. "I wasn't, but I am now."

BLAKE & GWEN

Flirting With Love

Their TV connection is for real!

There's no doubt The Voice mentors Blake Shelton and Gwen Stefani have chemistry. Both recently single, the stars shamelessly flirt — she called him "sweet" on the NBC hit September 29 and he gave her a near lap dance. Now, one insider says the sparks aren't being faked for the cameras. "They're a real thing," says a source close to Shelton, 39, who adds that the fashion-forward mom, 46, is rubbing off on the self-proclaimed "redneck." "He's dressing differently. Gwen says he can still wear plaid, but the right plaid!" Though a Shelton pal counters that the duo are not dating, the friend notes, "He thinks she's a badass!" Her ex also sees the value in her rock star success: With no prenup, says a Stefani source, the L.A.M.B. designer's divorce from Gavin Rossdale "has gotten nasty." Adds the source, "Gavin is asking for a lot of money."

SCOTT DISICK

Fling With a Teen Model

"He needs help," a source says of Disick (in NYC Oct. 1) and his drinking habits.

Oh, Lord. Three months after his partying torpedoed his nine-year relationship with Kourtney Kardashian, 36, Scott Disick, 32, has found a (much) younger woman: 18-year-old model Lindsay Vrckovnik. He barhopped with the teen and pals in NYC until 6 A.M. on September 30, then whisked her to Miami's South Beach. Their posse rolled into E11even nightclub at 4:30 A.M. on October 2, says a source: "Scott was drinking Amstel Light and dancing." Later that day, the duo cuddled in a lounge chair beachside at the Setai hotel. Kicked out of the Kardashian family business, the dad of three had no concerns about his career at a September 26 event, telling Us: "I'll keep making money. I'm not worried."

LEAVING LOS ANGELES

Tom Cruise is on a mission to move. "Tom hates living in L.A. and is relocating to Florida," says a source. "He thinks all the people in Hollywood are fake." The Scientologist, 53 (right), who listed his Beverly Hills mansion for $50 million, is also looking forward to being closer to his church's headquarters in Clearwater, Florida. Fellow believer John Travolta, 61, "loves his life there and inspired Tom," says the source. "He was ready to go."

"They hang out and play music," says a pal.

Adam's Odd Goodfella

Maroon 6? Rocker Adam Levine, 36, has found a new protégé: 72-year-old Joe Pesci. "Joe is really focused on music now," a Pesci pal says of the reclusive Oscar winner, who tapped the Voice coach for some help in the studio. "He's really inspired." A Levine source explains that the unlikely duo, who met at a charity golf event, have been buddies for years. "They kicked around some songs and recorded some stuff together," the source tells Hot Stuff. They have yet to decide whether they will release the jams: "It was just a thing they did while having fun."

Nick Jonas pulled a New York Yankees cap down low as he boarded the Rock 'n' Roller Coaster Starring Aerosmith at Disney's Hollywood Studios in Florida September 26. But if he hoped to remain incognito, he could dream on. Madison Mera, standing in line with her family at the Orlando-area park, spotted the star despite his best efforts to blend in. "My mom yelled, 'Nick!'" says Mera. "And he looked over." So did the blonde nestled next to him. Before the car sped away, continues Mera, actress Kate Hudson "laughed and turned to say something to Nick." Three days later, after pictures of the pair surfaced online, the former tween idol refused to acknowledge their outing to the happiest place on Earth. "I'm . . . not gonna talk about it," he said during an interview with Washington, D.C., radio station 94.7 Fresh FM. "I keep some things to myself."

He needn't kiss and tell. Sources confirm to Us that the 23-year-old "Jealous" singer is hooking up with the free-spirited mother of two, who is 13 years his senior. "Kate is having fun and not taking it too seriously," says a Hudson source, adding that the Rock the Kasbah actress "thinks he's superhot." Jonas, who once wore a purity ring, vowing to remain chaste until marriage, has harbored a crush for years. Says a Jonas confidant, "Nick always thought Kate was gorgeous." He's also a fan of her work: In 2008, he told Seventeen magazine that a favorite movie was Hudson's How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days. (She filmed it in 2002, when he was 10!) Indeed, Jonas told Us at the pre–Jingle Ball event in New York City October 5 that he's currently enjoying life. "I have been trying to really focus on just feeling free, you know?" he said. "And spending time with people that are interesting."

SLOW START

Hudson left a lasting impression on Jonas when they first met at a party in 2014. Though he was dating former Miss Universe Olivia Culpo, 23, "Nick was smitten," says another Hudson source. But Hudson, who had split from fiancé Matthew Bellamy, 37, that fall, only had eyes for 30-year-old Dancing With the Stars pro Derek Hough. The mom of sons Ryder, 11 (with rocker ex-husband Chris Robinson, 48), and Bingham, 4 (with Muse frontman Bellamy), adds the insider, "simply wasn't into Nick."

Enter her big brother, Oliver. After she and Hough cooled off this summer — around the same time Jonas ended his two-year romance with Culpo — Kate visited Oliver in New Orleans, where his Fox comedy Scream Queens had been taping since March. Oliver, 39, "reintroduced" his sister to costar Jonas, says the Hudson source. The New Jersey–raised singer promptly launched a charm offensive. "They hung out and talked," says the Hudson source, who adds that nothing physical happened at that point.

The 5-foot-7 former boy-bander (posing for Flaunt in 2014) sticks to a low-carb, high-protein diet.

Continues a Jonas insider, "Their connection took off. Things sparked."

The attraction grew as they got to know each other. "They sent flirty texts a lot," says the Hudson source. But with both of their schedules packed — in addition to Scream Queens, he was playing gigs and promoting a second show, DirecTV's Kingdom; she was filming the upcoming rom-com Mother's Day in Atlanta — another rendezvous was not in the cards. Says the Hudson source, "They decided to see each other when they could."

The perfect opportunity arose in early September. Hudson flew to New York City for Fashion Week; Jonas was in town for a September 9 gig at Terminal 5. During that trip, "they started hooking up," says the Hudson source. By the time Hudson attended Jonas' concert that week, she was behaving like his No. 1 fan. Sitting in the VIP area in the upper balcony with a female friend, "Kate was dancing to all of Nick's songs," says a witness. "She was cheering, and when Nick performed 'Jealous,' she sang all the words. Kate only took her eyes off Nick to chat with her friend."

BURNIN' UP

Hudson enjoyed an encore performance in Florida two weeks later. "Kate didn't go to Orlando specifically to see him," says the Jonas confidant, "but he was there, so they hung out." Multiple times. After their Disney date, Hudson caught Jonas' September 26 concert at Orlando's House of Blues. Alfresco brunch the next morning was 235 miles away at Cecconi's in Miami Beach, where Jonas had a show at the Fillmore Miami Beach.

That on-the-go excitement is just what Hudson craves. "Kate is able to switch back and forth between mom mode and wild-child crazy Kate," says the Hudson source. "She loves that Nick is younger and that they can let loose." The age difference doesn't concern her, either, adds the source: "She doesn't see it. This is just a fun hookup for her. It's not like she's in love."

Neither is Jonas. "Nick is a 23-year-old guy having fun," says a Jonas source. Still, the musician — who said on Watch What Happens Live in 2013 that he likes dating older women because "they know what they want" — has confided in brother Joe, 26, that he is thrilled to be spending time with his dream girl. Says the friend, "Joe teases Nick because he's so happy that they are hanging out."

Jonas was only 8 years old when Hudson won the Golden Globe for Almost Famous in 2001! These May-December duos have made it.

with Hudson. Kelly Clarkson, who Jonas was scheduled to open for, canceled the remainder of her U.S., Canada and U.K. tour because of a vocal issue, freeing up Jonas. But the Jonas source says he will buckle down and start recording his next album: "He has no plans to see Kate right now." Still, the Jonas confidant says the star hopes to work magic. "He could very well squeeze in time with her," the source says. "He's figuring it out."

Hudson is also contemplating their future. The first Hudson source says that if Jonas visits her in L.A. — where Hudson has a $5.3 million home in the Pacific Palisades neighborhood — he shouldn't expect to meet her children. Because the fling is casual, "Kate is going to keep the relationship separate from her kids," the source says. "At least for now." One family member has already given the romance his blessing. "Oliver likes Nick and thinks he's a good guy," says a source close to the actor. "He's not surprised that Kate would go for him." "There were other things going on," a source says of White (with Carrey May 21). "It wasn't just this breather with Jim."

— INSIDE JIM'S —

Heartbreak

Carrey mourns after his on-off love, Cathriona White, commits suicide following their latest break BY SARAH GROSSBART

Like many social media users, Cathriona White had a habit of posting inspirational missives. "New year is a blank book, it is up to you to make it a beautiful story," she wrote January 1 to her 7,000-plus Twitter followers. Seven months later, Jim Carrey's girlfriend wrote of everyone being "protected by the golden light of love." But on September 24 she cryptically announced she was "signing off," adding, "I hope I have been a light to my nearest and dearest."

It would be her last message. On the night of September 28, a friend found the makeup artist, 30, unresponsive at her home in L.A.'s Sherman Oaks. "There were pills located by her body," L.A. coroner Ed Winter tells Us. "There was also a suicide note." Both involved Carrey. The Irish beauty — legally married to another man at the time of her death — set her suicide plan in action after Carrey, 53, asked for a break from their three-year on-off romance September 24. She took a combination of pills — Winter confirms bottles of sleep aid Ambien, painkiller Percocet and blood-pressure medication Propranolol, all prescribed to a name the actor used as an alias, were found near her body along with the antinausea drug Zofran. And sources say she mentioned him in her letter. The Canada-bred funnyman is now distraught: "I am shocked and deeply saddened by the passing of my sweet Cathriona," he said in a September 29 statement. "She was a truly kind and delicate Irish flower."

TRAGIC LOVE STORY

Carrey's romance with White first bloomed in 2012 when he was two years removed from a high-profile relationship with Jenny McCarthy. Though the star ended things within a year, he later told the Irish Independent he had only fond memories of White: "She is lovely."

In fact, by May 2015, the actor had rekindled his romance with White, who, by this point, had married and split from her husband. "As far as Jim was concerned, she was separated," says a source. "She was going to start divorce proceedings in December. There's no way he would have taken her out in public if he thought she was married."

The pair were seen out as recently as September 19. Carrey treated her to a birthday dinner at Malibu's Nobu, an outing she dubbed "wonderful" on Twitter. Says the source, "Jim was generous to her and took really good care of her." Now he's caring for those she left behind. On September 30, he visited with her stepmom and sister Lisa at his L.A. home. Soon, says a source, they plan to "bring her body to Ireland," leaving Carrey with just his grief. As he added in his statement, "We have all been hit with a lightning bolt." US

Her Scientology Ties

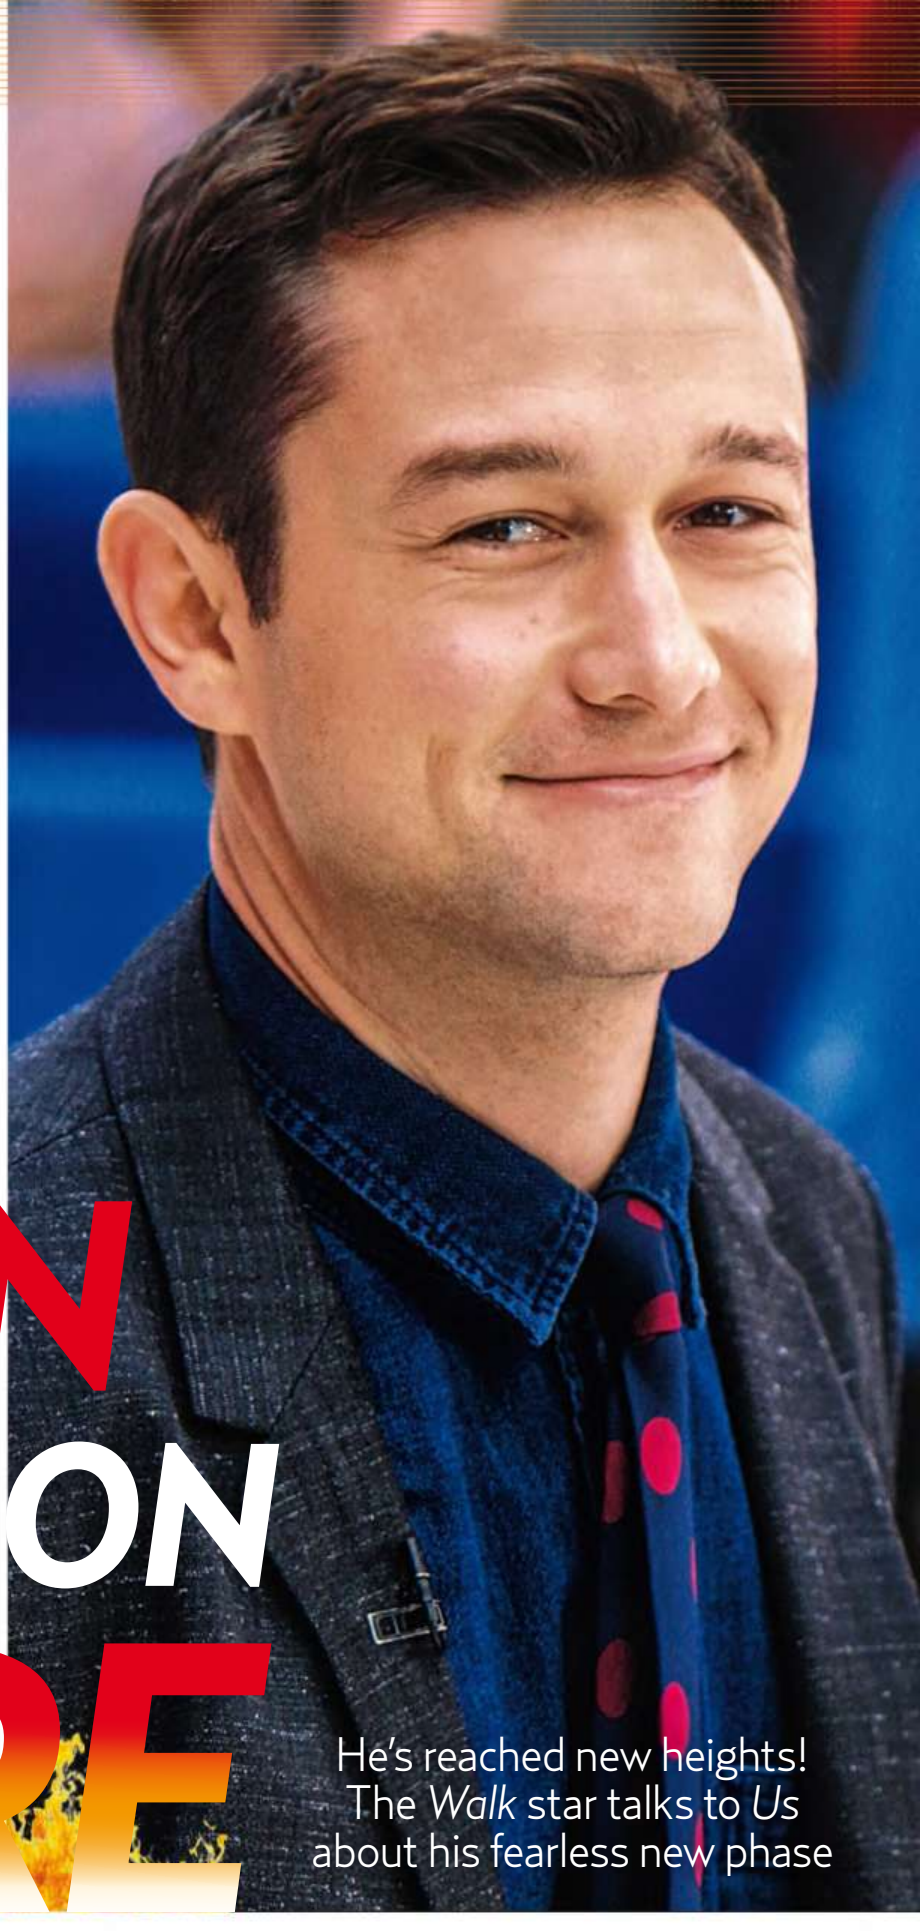

White got involved with the religion in 2011 and was quietly "getting in deeper," Scientology reporter Tony Ortega tells Us. A source adds that Carrey "didn't know." Her training in the practice, which opposes psychiatric treatment, had some internet commenters speculating it led to her death. But church rep Karin Pouw dismisses the idea to Us: "Saying somebody was studying Scientology and connecting that to a suicide is like saying a person who had previously studied the Bible committed suicide."

MAN ON FIRE

JOSEPH GORDON-LEVITT

He's reached new heights! The Walk star talks to Us about his fearless new phase

Joseph Gordon-Levitt can now add "dazzling acrobat" and "plausible Frenchman" to his résumé. "Not only did he learn how to walk on a wire — and he had a safety harness that he never used — but he fooled people who are from Paris with his perfect French accent," costar Ben Schwartz says of the lead in The Walk (out now). The film, based on real-life wire artist Philippe Petit's 1974 walk between the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center (also the subject of the 2008 documentary Man on Wire), is just the latest feat for Gordon-Levitt, 34. "I never want to be pigeonholed," the child star turned leading man, screenwriter and director has said. The L.A. native, who welcomed his first child with wife Tasha McCauley in August, tells Us' Ashley Spencer how he found his footing.

You're very convincing as a wire walker extraordinaire!

Wonderful! Before filming, Philippe orchestrated this really elaborate workshop, just me and him all day long for eight days straight. He said, "By the end of these eight days, you'll walk on the wire by yourself." I thought that sounded ambitious, but he was so thoroughly convinced that I was going to be able to do it that he made me believe. And he was right!

Wire walking, he says, "is actually really fun, if painful."

Still, it's a major physical feat. How did you progress?

It starts with a piece of tape on the floor, and once you've mastered that, then you move on to a wire that's just a foot or two off the ground. When we filmed, I was on a soundstage surrounded with green screen on a wire about 12 feet in the air. You'd be surprised how high it feels when you're actually up there.

You're insanely fit in this film. Do you have the wire to thank?

Wire walkers are actually in great shape. It's very physically strenuous because your whole body has to be tight. If anything is loose, you flop over and lose your balance. And I was eating really healthy. I cut out sugar and added a lot of vegetables.

Philippe's walk was totally illegal. Do you have a rebellious streak?

Sure! There's even a line in the movie about how "All art is anarchistic to some degree," and I think there's some truth to that. I've never really broken the law much, and I've never been arrested, but I think as far as rebelling against convention — even this movie is sort of a rebellious movie. It's a grand-scale action movie, but there's no shooting, there's no killing, there are no explosions. These are typically the hallmarks of big action movies coming out of Hollywood. When you do something different than the norm, it's risky.

What was your personal experience with the Twin Towers?

I went to the top of the World Trade Center towers in the summer of 2001. It was my first summer living in New York after my freshman year at Columbia University, and I remember it distinctly. It felt more like being in the sky than it felt like being in a tall building.

Have you visited the memorial?

I actually did Philippe's walk there recently. Those two reflecting pools are the footprint of the old towers, so I walked from the north corner of the South Tower to the south corner of the North Tower, just to see what it was like. It was beautiful to see that even though this horrible thing had happened there, we're still there. New York City is as great as it ever was.

It's the 20th anniversary of 3rd Rock From the Sun in January. Any plans for a cast reunion?

Oh, wow, you're right! I haven't thought about it, but I'm in touch with all of the cast. A reunion would be awesome! US

Coburn had baseballs "autographed" and aged to commemorate an outing Jimmy (John Stamos) goes on with son Gerald (Josh Peck).

"John wanted to be able to work on his bonsai [on set]. Clipping them can be very calming," Coburn says, adding: "I've never seen him actually clip any. . . ."

To give the L.A. loft a sophisticated Old Hollywood vibe, set decorator Cindy Coburn added a vintage bar from L.A. Modern. Food coloring turns water into booze.

"We didn't want a lot of color," Coburn explains. A neutral sofa and warm tones on the chairs and in the rug "give the space its masculine feel."

Grandfathered airs on Fox Tuesdays at 8 P.M.

SECRETS FROM THE SET

John Stamos lures Us into his bachelor pad — that is, the one he occupies on Fox's Grandfathered BY BRAD WITTER

Though the actor gives props to the "cool art," he says the decor is intentionally sparse "because Jimmy is not really settled in his life."

Jazz enthusiast Stamos inspired the black-and-white photos of greats such as Louis Armstrong and Nat King Cole. The jazz theme even carries over to Jimmy's coffee-table books.

Vintage touches are everywhere: An iPod docking station is disguised as a gramophone, and a trio of old trains takes over the bottom shelf (top photo).

Lea Michele

Radicchio and Parmesan Pizza with Sunny-Side-Up Egg

Photographs by Steve Giralt

Michele's pizza is cut out for the upper crust. "It looks impressive," the You First author, 29, tells Us. But it's not too fancy. Says the star of Fox's Scream Queens (Tuesdays, 9 P.M.), "Anything that can be eaten family style is a hit!"

- 1 12-inch store-bought whole-wheat pizza shell
- 1 head (about 4 cups) radicchio, finely shaved and fully dried
- 2 tbsp fresh lemon juice
- 1 tsp kosher salt
- 2 tbsp plus 1 tsp olive oil
- ½ cup shaved Parmesan cheese
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp truffle oil (optional)
- Black pepper

1. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Prepare crust according to directions. Place radicchio, juice, salt and 2 tablespoons oil in a large zip-top bag; shake until radicchio is coated.
2. Place radicchio mixture on crust. Bake until radicchio is crispy, about 10 minutes. Sprinkle on cheese. Return to oven. Bake until cheese melts, about 2 minutes.
3. In a skillet over medium heat, heat remaining 1 teaspoon oil. Break egg and cook 2 minutes (yolk should be a bit runny).
4. Place egg on top of pizza. Bake 2 more minutes. Drizzle with truffle oil. Garnish with pepper.

Butternut Squash and Farro Salad SERVES 8 TO 12

The Endless Summer Cookbook author goes with the grain for her prized side. Says the 34-year-old cohost of Food Network's The Kitchen (Saturdays, 11 A.M.), "It's hearty enough that it can double as an entrée for vegetarians."

- 1 2-lb butternut squash, peeled and cut into ½-inch chunks
- 4 large shallots, sliced
- 8 tbsp extra-virgin olive oil
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 4 tbsp sherry vinegar
- 1 cup golden raisins
- 2 tsp grainy mustard
- Ground cayenne pepper
- 2 cups farro, cooked to package instructions
- 6 oz smoked Gouda, finely diced
- 1 cup walnut halves, toasted and coarsely chopped
- 6 cups arugula

1. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Place squash and shallots on a baking sheet lined with parchment paper. Drizzle with 2 tablespoons olive oil and toss to coat. Season to taste with salt and black pepper.
2. Roast, tossing halfway through, until squash is soft and shallots begin to brown, 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to cool.
3. Meanwhile, in a shallow bowl, pour vinegar over raisins. Soak, tossing occasionally, at least 15 minutes. Drain vinegar into a small bowl, squeezing raisins to remove excess.
4. Whisk mustard into vinegar and add remaining 6 tablespoons oil in a slow stream until thick and emulsified. Season to taste with cayenne, salt and pepper.
5. In a medium bowl, toss farro, squash and shallots, raisins, Gouda and walnuts. Top with dressing and toss until evenly coated. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Fold in arugula.

Jake and Jussie Smollett

Asian Lobster Tacos SERVES 10-12

"I love cooking with my baby brother," Jussie, 32 (right), tells Us. The breakout on Fox's Empire (Wednesdays, 9 P.M.) and actor Jake, 26, whipped up dishes on their 2014 YouTube video Restaurant Ready. This starter, says Jussie, "tastes amazing, but is still light."

- 1 clove garlic, crushed, plus 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 2 tsp sesame oil
- 2 tsp lemon juice
- 2 tbsp soy sauce
- ¼ tsp freshly grated ginger
- 1 cup thinly sliced green cabbage
- 1 cup thinly sliced red cabbage
- 1½ cups vegetable oil
- 1 package store-bought wonton wraps
- 2 tbsp butter
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 3 lobster tails, meat removed from shell and chopped
- Sriracha sauce

1. In a medium bowl, combine crushed garlic, sesame oil, lemon juice, 1 tablespoon soy sauce and ginger. Stir in cabbages. Set aside.
2. In a small pan over medium heat, heat vegetable oil. Fold 10 to 12 wonton wraps in half into the shape of hard taco shells. One at a time, fry wraps until crunchy, about 30 seconds per side. Set aside.
3. In a medium pan over medium heat, sauté butter and chopped garlic. Add green onions, 1 tablespoon soy sauce and lobster. Sauté until meat is cooked through, 2 to 3 minutes.
4. Place lobster in shells. Top with cabbage slaw and drizzle with Sriracha to taste.

Party Prep Countdown

1 MONTH BEFORE

Mail save-the-dates. "Nothing beats personalized stationery," says lifestyle expert Travis London. Two weeks later, fire off an email invite, he advises: "Include a box for dietary restrictions."

2 WEEKS BEFORE

Make DIY decor. London suggests filling a vase with layers of pebbles and faux flower petals. Then, wrap colored foil around the base of a potted plant and place it in the vase. "It's a cinch!"

1 WEEK BEFORE

Devise a menu and signature drink. The Healthy Chic Eats site founder, who has worked with Rihanna, serves margaritas with citrus-infused tequila that can be made in batches on the eve of the fete.

Mayim Bialik

Vegan Spanakopita SERVES 8

The actress on CBS's The Big Bang Theory (Mondays, 8 P.M.) is at the cutting veg of entertaining. Her meatless Greek appetizer "is full of flavor, filling and healthy," the 39-year-old Mayim's Vegan Table scribe tells Us. "It doesn't crumble in your hands like other party foods."

- 1 cup raw almonds or walnuts
- 1 tbsp fresh basil
- 1 tbsp fresh rosemary
- 1 tbsp freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 12-oz box frozen spinach, thawed and drained
- 1 16-oz package whole wheat phyllo dough, thawed
- Vegetable oil
- Vegan tzatziki, ranch dressing or duck sauce, for serving

1. Soak nuts in water at least 4 hours; drain.
2. In a blender, mix softened nuts, basil, rosemary, lemon juice and salt until smooth but not creamy.
3. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a medium bowl, combine nut mixture and spinach.
4. Cut phyllo into four strips per sheet and place on a baking sheet. Cover dough with a moist cloth while working, to keep it fresh.
5. Place 1 tablespoon nut-spinach filling at the top of a strip of phyllo. Fold the corner of the phyllo over spinach mixture to form a triangle. Continue folding the strip like a flag, maintaining triangle shape, until the end. Brush phyllo edge with oil to seal the triangle. Repeat to make 24 triangles.
6. Place spanakopita on a large baking sheet and bake until edges start to brown, 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with vegan tzatziki, ranch dressing or duck sauce.

2 DAYS BEFORE

Create place cards. London prints guests' Instagram pics and mounts them on paper. And sketch out seating. "Never allow couples to sit together. This forces them to strike up a conversation."

THE NIGHT BEFORE

Prep the food by measuring, dicing, mixing and refrigerating the ingredients. And blend the cocktails. "I also set my table," he says. "That way I have time to focus on me the next day."

THE DAY OF THE FETE

Pick a Spotify playlist. "Find a station based on the mood or theme," the planner says. Then, carve out time for preparty primping. The hostess, he insists, "should feel as great as her guests!"

S'mOreos

SERVES 8

Lowes, 33, and her actor husband, Adam Shapiro, wed at a Connecticut summer camp in 2012. "So when it comes to s'mores," the actress on ABC's Scandal (Thursdays, 9 P.M.) tells Us, "we don't mess around."

- 8 Oreo cookies
- 1 3.5-oz milk- or white-chocolate bar, broken into pieces
- 8 marshmallows

1 Twist Oreos in half. Place chocolate on cream filling.
2 Carefully toast marshmallows over a campfire, grill or stove; place on chocolate. Top each with a remaining Oreo half and gently press together.

SELENA'S BIG REVEAL

It's personal! Gomez sings her heart out on Revival

Selena Gomez stripped down to her underwear for the cover of her new album, Revival. But she bares her soul in its 16 tracks, 11 of which she cowrote. "This whole record was me being superemotional," says the Disney vet, whose second solo effort (out October 9) spawned the Top 10 hit "Good for You." Currently single, the Texan-born 23-year-old gives Us a peek into what she calls "the best album I've ever made."

Q: Why the topless album cover?
This was the first year I ever dealt with anyone talking about my body. I'd land at the airport and people would yell out, "You're fat!" It was awful. I've been working in therapy. Even if I did gain weight, I'm fine. That's what the picture represents.

Q: How do you feel you've grown since you recorded 2013's Stars Dance?
Each year, I'm becoming more who I am. I have a little more self-awareness. I feel confident and free. I'm not going to hide in my room and be depressed.

Q: What went into recording Revival?
I spent a year on it. There were moments when I was like, "I can't do this, I don't know what I'm doing." I was the executive producer and had full control. The pressure pushed me to greatness.

Q: Some say "Kill Em With Kindness" is about an ex-boyfriend.
"Kill them with kindness" is something I've always done. When people give me their worst, I give them my best.

"Being naked is amazing!" raves Gomez.

"I've been working since I was 7," Gomez tells Us. "This is my dream."

BILLY'S CELEBRITY FRIENDS

"I have a ridiculous amount of stamina," comedian Billy Eichner tells Us. As the host of TruTV's Billy on the Street (season 4 premieres October 8 at 10:30 P.M.), he needs it! The 37-year-old New Yorker is back to sprinting down Manhattan sidewalks, bombarding pedestrians with off-the-wall pop-culture questions ("For a dollar, who's weirder: Tom Cruise or John Travolta?"). And this season, "we have big obstacle courses," says the single Parks and Recreation vet. Reveals Eichner, "You're going to see more costumes, and I'll be playing different characters in a lightning round!"

FAMOUS SIDEKICKS Julianne Moore, Will Ferrell, Chris Pratt and other celebrities offer themselves up to his antics too. In a Tina Fey taping, he tries to get her "one new, non–show-business friend, because she has no real friends." But one star has eluded him: "Last season, we were going to do a segment with Meryl Streep, but there was a snowstorm. . . . You can't have Meryl out in the snow!"

JANE THE VIRGIN'S HUNK

Special delivery: Justin Baldoni tells Us about being a new dad on and off screen

Justin Baldoni's life is imitating art. Right after his character Rafael became a dad on CW's Jane the Virgin (season 2 premieres October 12 at 9 P.M.), his actress wife, Emily, 31, gave birth to their now-3-month-old daughter, Maiya. "I joked she got pregnant just so I could see what it felt like to be a parent," says the L.A. native, 31. He gives Us a peek into his new life on set.

HE USES HIS DADDY SKILLS AT WORK "Whether it's the stroller or the car seat, now I'm able to make sure they're put together right [for the scene]."

HIS FAMILY GETS SCREEN TIME "Emily and Maiya were in the first episode [this season]! Maiya was a natural; she slept the whole time. It was very cute."

HE'S SELF-CONSCIOUS Before a shirtless scene, "I do a lot of pushups. I don't walk around with all the confidence in the world that I can rip my shirt off."

HE'S NERVOUS FOR BRITNEY SPEARS' UPCOMING GUEST SPOT "She's a fan of the show, but if I walked up to her, she'd say, 'I'm sorry, who are you?'"

With onscreen baby mama Gina Rodriguez.

THE BEST FOODS TO FIGHT CANCER

Lower your risk with salmon and spice and most everything green

CHIA SEEDS
Fiber "helps remove excess hormones and carcinogens from the body," says the pro, who recommends at least 30 grams a day. A tablespoon of these seeds has a whopping 5 grams.

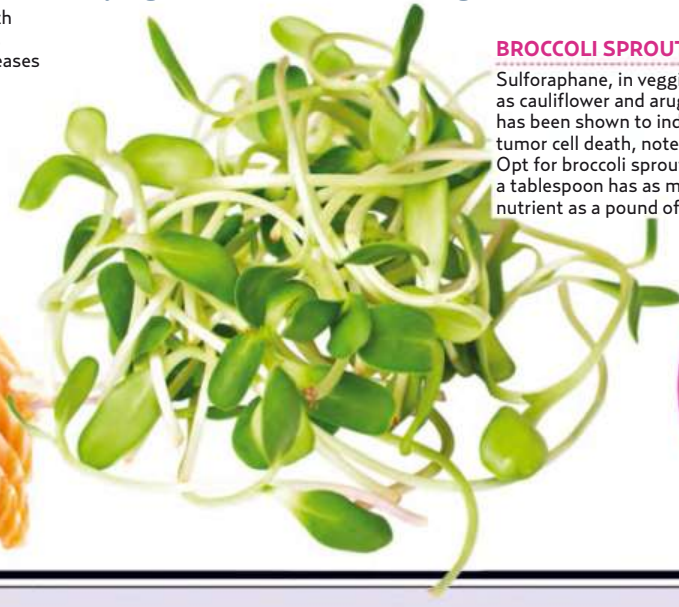

TURMERIC
The active compound in this spice is anti-inflammatory curcumin, which has been shown to inhibit cancer cell growth. Pairing it with pepper, says Beller, "increases absorption."

SALMON
This fish is packed with omega-3s — the fatty acids that reduce inflammation "and may inhibit the growth of tumors," says the L.A. dietitian. Aim for three servings of the low-mercury variety each week.

Going Greek is good for your health. New research from Spain's University of Navarra shows that those who follow a Mediterranean diet — extra-virgin olive oil making up at least 15 percent of the calories — have a 62 percent lower risk of breast cancer over the next five years. The key ingredient is oleic acid, which may work against cancer-causing genetic mutations, according to studies. Dietitian Rachel Beller, who consults with survivor Sheryl Crow (right), tells Us that opting for whole foods is also important, adding that her clients stick to "a primarily plant-based diet." She digs up the mightiest nibbles for Us.

BROCCOLI SPROUTS
Sulforaphane, in veggies such as cauliflower and arugula, has been shown to induce breast tumor cell death, notes Beller. Opt for broccoli sprouts — a tablespoon has as much of the nutrient as a pound of broccoli!

FIT TIP!
Lace up your sneaks: Exercising five hours a week can lessen your chances of breast cancer, per a recent study in JAMA Oncology.

3 Ways to Add More Healthy Olive Oil

ROAST THOSE VEGGIES
Toss greens such as brussels sprouts with a tablespoon of olive oil, then bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Opt for the unprocessed, cold-pressed oil, says Beller: "It's what they used in the study."

CRAFT A SAVORY BREAKFAST
For a twist on your morning Greek-yogurt parfait, New York–based dietitian Stephanie Middleberg suggests drizzling a teaspoon of olive oil over a cup of yogurt. "Then add pine nuts or pistachios," she says.

TRY A TRENDY NEW DISH
Whip up avocado toast, advises Middleberg. (Mindy Kaling loves it.) Smash half an avocado on whole-wheat bread; top with sea salt and a bit of olive oil. Add a tablespoon of chia seeds for fiber!

Who's hungry? The powerhouse zombie drama returns with a full plate

Much like the flesh-eaters that stalk its watchful characters, The Walking Dead's season 6 opener — packing in a time jump, new faces and hundreds of zombies — at times bites off more than it can chew. The latest frightfest begins with a stunning, almost surreal scene: Determined leader Rick (Andrew Lincoln) and his followers, along with some unexplained allies (one is played by Can't Hardly Wait's Ethan Embry), are enmeshed in a battle with an onslaught of walkers. Nightmarish moment accomplished, the writers start to weave in flashbacks that reveal just how the group arrived at that predicament. The nonlinear storytelling, while artfully building tension, gets a little confusing. And, frankly, the fallout from last March's irresistible cliffhanger — Rick looked to save the weak citizens of the barricaded community of Alexandria from themselves — feels somewhat brushed over. This is no nonsensically plotted Fear the Walking Dead episode, however. As a hero stressing the survival of the fittest, Lincoln strikes as more impassioned than ever. By the last few minutes, Dead coalesces with an agonizing scream and an imaginative twist destined to leave viewers shuddering till next Sunday. (AMC, 9 P.M.)

TRUTH BE TOLD

This new sitcom's "our nanny might be a porn star" story line is a bit dubious. But when the dad is Zack Morris (er, Mark-Paul Gosselaar), count Us in! (NBC, 8:30 P.M.)

FRIDAY 10/16

PLEASE LIKE ME

This comedy about a clique of quirky twentysomethings Down Under shows why it's a critical darling in season 3: The opener plays like a wistful rom-com. Overthinking Josh (creator Josh Thomas) and neurotic Arnold (Keegan Joyce) finally state their love. Aww. (Pivot, 10 P.M.)

Janet Jackson

Unbreakable

★★½☆

We waited a while . . . and for what? After going MIA for seven years, Ms. Jackson tries to make up for lost time with 17 sultry R&B grooves in the spirit of '90s classics Janet and The Velvet Rope. Despite the funky thump of "Gon B Alright" and the winsome sweetness of "After You Fall," there's a problem: She forgot to bring the iconic hooks. To do during the next sabbatical: Craft some hits! (Rhythm Nation)

"See you in the next life," sings the 49-year-old star.

MY TOP LOVE TRACKS!

"Cheerleader" singer OMI, 29 — his album, Me 4 U, is out October 16 — charms Us

I WANNA KNOW WHAT LOVE IS / FOREIGNER
"My brother and I would battle to see who sang it better. Guess who won?"

ORDINARY PEOPLE / JOHN LEGEND
"Beautiful, and a great reminder that not every relationship is perfect."

UNFORGETTABLE / NAT KING COLE
"This showed me how simple words can make a woman feel special."

YOU ARE NOT ALONE / MICHAEL JACKSON
"It may be about a lost love but it is still uplifting in its own way."

TURN YOUR LIGHTS DOWN LOW / BOB MARLEY
"Very sensual without trying too hard — and it gets anyone in the mood."

Jobs (Fassbender) is slow to warm up to his daughter Lisa.

OPENS FRIDAY 10/9

Steve Jobs

"You can be decent and gifted at the same time!" That line, scripted by Aaron Sorkin, could have been lifted from his film The Social Network to describe Mark Zuckerberg. Instead, a man barks it to Apple mastermind Steve Jobs in this sharp, engrossing effort. And this tech visionary is significantly more flawed. No biopic, the movie focuses on the backstage drama leading up to three product launches. We begin in 1984 as Jobs (Michael Fassbender) prepares to debut the Macintosh. Moments before go time, he strategizes with his marketing director (Kate Winslet), feuds with his ex (Katherine Waterston) over the paternity of her girl, bristles with his partner (Seth Rogen) and drinks with his CEO (Jeff Daniels). Those VIPs also appear right before the 1988 Next system and 1998 iMac unveilings. At first, it's jarring to hear decades' worth of info crammed into dialogue snips, but to paraphrase the old slogan . . . Sorkin thinks different. His brilliant screenplay features a distinct syncopated rhythm that never lets up. It could just use more heart: Jobs perpetually comes off as a jerk unapologetic about his disdain for human connection. We already see the genius; we need more dimension within the man.

Marketing whiz Joanna Hoffman (Winslet) is Jobs' closest confidant.

Jackman is hiding a secret about his youthful appearance.

OPENS FRIDAY 10/9

Pan

Prisoners aboard a pirate ship break into the chorus of "Smells Like Teen Spirit." Captain Hook is dressed like Indiana Jones. Wait, what the heck is this thing?! Officially, it's the prequel to Peter Pan — though it scarcely resembles that joyful J.M. Barrie classic. In this version, orphaned Peter (spunky Levi Miller) answers to evil Blackbeard (Hugh Jackman) in Neverland. Yet with the help of ally James Hook (Garrett Hedlund), he escapes into the woods and fulfills his destiny. Peter ambles from one bloated adventure to another, and no pricey 3-D effect can cover up the fact that hardly any of it is fun. (And the plot is stuffed with baffling mythology.) Kids of all ages should just fly away.

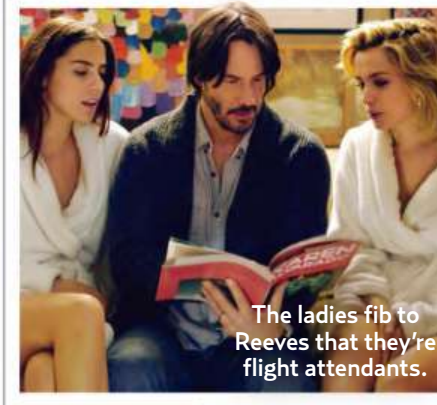

Charlotte Le Bon is Gordon-Levitt's partner in crime.

OUT NOW

The Walk

★★★½

It's just another flashy heist movie . . . that takes place 110 stories up in the air. Joseph Gordon-Levitt charms as Philippe Petit, the French street performer set on (illegally) walking between NYC's Twin Towers in 1974. The mundane windup leads to something truly majestic: a death-defying, vertigo-inducing high-wire act. And the last moment — a moving tribute to the buildings — is an emotional high point.

The ladies fib to Reeves that they're flight attendants.

OPENS FRIDAY 10/9

Knock Knock

★★½

Who's there? A guy, two girls and a kinky chiller. Keanu Reeves is a hipster suburban dad left alone for the weekend. On a Dark and Stormy Night, two beauties knock on the door and claim they're lost. After they step foot inside, they seduce him, sleep with him and then terrorize him. It sounds frightful, but director Eli Roth reins in his usual bloodletting in favor of camp. If anything, it's not scary enough!
